

March 23, 1973

Commission can consider regulation in the hunting of 124 days a year. You adopt him and you can't hunt them at all. So if you want to do it that way, go ahead.

PRESIDENT: Now, Senator Stahmer, do you wish to be heard on the amendment? We have only the amendment by Senator Dickinson before the body.

SENATOR STAHMER: Senator Syas, I'm not clear. I would think the Dickinson amendment, I thought he was incorrect at first but perhaps now I'm thinking he is correct that if the federal government has a treaty with Mexico against hunting crows, isn't that what he's accomplishing here, the prohibition of the hunting of crows? Isn't that not in keeping with what the federal regulation is?

SENATOR SYAS: The bill now allows the hunting of crows, in this bill.

SENATOR STAHMER: You just read about some federal treaty where we're not supposed to hunt crows.

SENATOR SYAS: No, if you do not pass this bill, if you do not give this regulation to the Game Department to regulate it, you cannot hunt crows--period. If you give this regulation to the Game Commission from the federal government, you can hunt crows 124 days a year.

SENATOR STAHMER: I'm lost.

SENATOR SYAS: Well, I don't know how much plainer.. If you, this treaty between Mexico and the United States. If the state does not enact this under this treaty, you cannot hunt crows--cannot.

SENATOR STAHMER: Okay.

SENATOR SYAS: If you enact this bill, the Game Commission then can allow you to hunt crows under the treaty with the United States and Mexico...

(End of Belt #16)